

Employee: Laura Cheatham

Laura was born and grew up in the Farmington area. Her father Roger Nutter was a coal miner and her mother, Nina, drove a school bus. Roger was later transferred to DuQuoin, Illinois. Throughout her childhood she loved going on hikes and riding bikes with her Father. They also had fun traveling to Ohio to family reunions, camping at Shelbyville, and other vacation trips. Laura graduated from High School in 1988. She waitressed for awhile and then got a job as a seamstress at the local bridal dress factory. While growing up she was friends with Roger Cheatham. When they were both working at the factory, they started dating. They then married in 1992 and had their son, Calvin in 1994. In 1995 they moved to Macomb area to be closer to her parents. Her father had been transferred to the Industry Cole Mine. Her husband then got a job driving trucks and Laura stayed home with Calvin. Eventually her father moved into the Everly House. We all loved Roger Nutter. After he passed Laura came here to work.

Laura and Roger bought the family homestead out in the country. She loves living out there where it is quiet and her dog can run free. She also loves spending time with her four grandsons. Kyler just graduated and will be going to the University of Illinois. Eric is nine years old, Riley is seven, CJ is four. He is the youngest and most ornery! Laura also enjoys creating crafts and reading. She also wanted me to let everyone know that she loves working here at Everly. We in turn are very blessed to have her working here and have benefited from her many talents.
